Executive Secretary: A. I. P. Henton (7 Warwick Court, London WC1R 5DP)

The Biochemical Society exists to advance the science of biochemistry through meetings and publications. Several meetings a year are held, each at a different place; original papers are presented and special topics are discussed at symposia and colloquia.

Persons interested in biochemistry are eligible for election as Members. Details of further facilities accorded to Members, and forms of application for membership, are available from the Executive Secretary, The Biochemical Society, 7 Warwick Court, London WC1R 5DP [01-242 1076 (4 lines)]

NOTICE FOR CONTRIBUTORS

The Biochemical Journal places emphasis on the prompt publication of both full-length papers (on average about 6 months after receipt) and rapid papers (on average 10–12 weeks after receipt).

For detailed instructions on the preparation of papers contributors (who need not be members of the Biochemical Society) should refer to Policy of the Journal and Instructions to Authors (Biochem. J. (1978) 169, 1–27).

Papers submitted for publication should be addressed to the Editorial Manager, Biochemical Journal, 7 Warwick Court, London WC1R 5DP.

Contributors should note that the Biochemical Journal makes no manuscript handling charges, no page charges and no charges for plates. Reprints are available at modest cost at about the same time as publication, and, if an author is a member of the Biochemical Society, 50 reprints are provided free of charge.

The Biochemical Journal accepts papers on all aspects of Biochemistry. Alternate issues of the journal are devoted to Molecular Aspects and Cellular Aspects. For the convenience of readers, papers within each issue are assigned to sections on the Contents pages. Authors should indicate whether their papers are Molecular or Cellular and designate the section in Contents in which they would like their paper to appear. Section headings, for both Molecular Aspects and Cellular Aspects, are reviewed from time to time; the present headings are as follows:

Molecular Aspects (Physical, Structural and Chemical Properties of Biochemical Systems, including Sequencing Information)

Peptide and Protein Structure

Enzymes and Enzyme Kinetics

Metalloproteins

Nucleotides, Nucleic Acids and Nucleoproteins

Lipids

Membranes

Carbohydrates and Complex Carbohydrates

Physical Biochemistry

Cellular Aspects (Biochemical Properties of Metabolic, Subcellular and Cellular Systems)

Protein Biosynthesis/Molecular Genetics

Protein Turnover

Metabolism, Regulation and Control Processes

Cell Surfaces and Receptors

Developmental Biochemistry

Membranes, Transport, Bioenergetics and Photosynthesis

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR AUTHORS

Limitation of paper lengths. As a measure to meet the effects of continuously rising production costs of the Journal the Editorial Board has decided to introduce a policy of limitation of length of published papers. In future papers should not normally exceed eight printed pages in the Journal, including Figures and Tables. (Eight pages represent approximately 5000 words without Figures or Tables; as a guide, the number of double-spaced A4 typescript sheets for text and references, plus an allowance of one sheet for each Figure, Table or Scheme with its legend, should not exceed 24 if the eight printed pages maximum is to be met.) Cooperation of authors in this will be expected, and there is an advantage in that shorter papers are usually published with the least delay. Authors should also note that a single paper consisting justifiably of ten printed pages, for example, will normally be considered more favourably than two papers each of six pages dealing with the same material.

Copies of submitted papers. To expedite handling and refereeing procedures in a new system to be operated by the Journal authors are now requested to provide three copies of papers at submission.

New features. In 1981 the inclusion of Reviews in the Journal will commence; these will usually be invited, although prospective authors of Reviews are welcome to contact the Deputy Chairman concerned with Reviews (Professor J. A. Lucy).

'Biochemical Journal Letters' is an additional feature now being implemented for the Journal. 'BJ Letters' are intended to provide an opportunity to discuss, criticize or expand particular points made in published work, or to present a hypothesis. They must be concisely written and each will normally occupy less than one printed page of the Journal. Letters will be treated as items for rapid publication. They will be accepted only if they are thought to represent soundly reasoned opinions. Letters are not intended to provide a vehicle for discussion of more general matters which might more appropriately be sent to the Biochemical Society Bulletin. If a letter is polemical in nature, a reply may be solicited from other interested parties before its publication. Such replies will be assessed for publication with the original letter if this is appropriate. Letters should be sent to the Editorial Office.
