Obituary Notice (John Addyman Gardner, 1867-1946)	321
BAL-INTRAV: a new non-toxic thiol for intravenous injection in arsenical poisoning. By J. F. DANIELLI, MARY DANIELLI, (the late) J. B. FRASER, P. D. MITCHELL, L. N. OWEN and G. SHAW. 1. Biological observations. By J. F. DANIELLI, MARY DANIELLI and P. D. MITCHELL. 2. Chemical observations. By J. B. FRASER, L. N. OWEN and G. SHAW. (With three figures)	325
Changes undergone by phenylarsenious acid and phenylarsonic acid in the animal body. By T. B. B. CRAWFORD and G. A. LEVY	333
Studies on the reaction between sodium hypochlorite and proteins. 1. Physico-chemical study of the course of the reaction. By R. W. R. BAKER. (With seven figures)	337
Antidotal activity of British anti-lewisite against compounds of antimony, gold and mercury. By R. H. S. THOMPSON and V. P. WHITTAKER. (With one figure)	342
The inhibition of succinioxidase by heavy metals and its reactivation with dithiols. By E. S. G. BARRON and G. KALNITSKY. (With five figures)	346
The fate of arsenical vesicants in the skin and the effect of BAL (British anti-lewisite). By A. F. GRAHAM, G. A. LEVY and A. C. CHANCE	352
British anti-lewisite as an antidote for acute mercury poisoning. By L. A. STOCKEN	358
A note on the microdetermination of British anti-lewisite. By G. H. SPRAY	360
Further investigations on the metabolism of 2:3-dimercaptopropanol. By G. H. SPRAY, L. A. STOCKEN and R. H. S. THOMPSON. (With one figure)	362
The effect of injected British anti-lewisite on urinary sulphur and glucuronic acid fractions. By G. H. SPRAY. (With four figures)	366
The use of British anti-lewisite containing radioactive sulphur for metabolism investigations. By R. A. PETERS, G. H. SPRAY, L. A. STOCKEN, C. H. COLLIE, M. A. GRACE and G. A. WHEATLEY	370
Oxidation of phenol and benzoic acid by some soil bacteria. By W. C. EVANS. (With three figures)	373
Amino-acids and proteins in haemoglobin formation. 1. Tryptophan. By K. M. YESHODA and M. DAMODARAN	382
The fermentation of sucrose by Aerobacter aerogenes . By G. G. FREEMAN. (With two figures)	389
The turnover of phosphate in the pineal body compared with that in other parts of the brain. By U. BORELL and Å. ÖRSTRÖM. (With two figures)	398
Antibacterial action of some aromatic amines, amidines, amidoximes, guanidines and diguanidines. By A. T. FULLER	403
The hyaluronidase content of semen. By G. I. M. SWYER. (With four figures)	409
The release of hyaluronidase from spermatozoa. By G. I. M. SWYER. (With one figure)	413
The metabolic conversion of naphthalene to 1:2-dihydronaphthalene-1:2-diol. By L. YOUNG	417
An investigation into the chemical estimation of the oestrogens in urine. By A. E. BENDER and A. WILSON	423
The tryptophanase-tryptophan reaction. 8. The mode of formation of indole. By E. A. DAWES, J. DAWSON and F. C. HAPPOLD. (With two figures)	426
Studies on alcaptonuria. 1. The estimation of homogentisic acid. By A. NEUBERGER. (With four figures)	431
Studies on alcaptonuria. 2. Investigations on a case of human alcaptonuria. By A. NEUBERGER, C. RIMINGTON and J. M. G. WILSON	438

Studies in alcaptonuria. 3. Experimental alcaptonuria in rats. By A. NEUBERGER and T. A. WEBSTER. (With six figures)	449
Studies on the biochemistry of micro-organisms. 74. The molecular constitution of geodin and erdin, two chlorine-containing metabolic products of Aspergillus terreus Thom. Part 3. Possible structural formulæ for geodin and erdin. By C. T. CALAM, (the late) P. W. CLUTTERBUCK, A. E. OXFORD and H. RAISTRICK. (Appendix by S. MARCUS)	458
Studies on antibiotics. 2. Bacteriological activity and possible mode of action of certain non-nitrogenous natural and synthetic antibiotics. By H. RINDERKNECHT, J. L. WARD, F. BERGEL and A. L. MORRISON	463
The importance of folic acid and unidentified members of the vitamin B complex in the nutrition of certain insects. By G. FRAENKEL and M. BLEWETT. (With eight figures)	469
Linoleic acid and arachidonic acid in the metabolism of two insects, Ephesia kuehniella (Lep.) and Tenebrio molitor (Col.). By G. FRAENKEL and M. BLEWETT. (With two figures)	475
Further observations on the non-fermentability of d -fructopyranose by yeast. By A. GOTTSCHALK	478
Proceedings of the Biochemical Society
The plastein question. By J. A. V. BUTLER, E. C. DODDS, D. M. P. PHILLIPS and J. M. L. STEPHEN	xxxvii
The thymol flocculation test. By N. F. MACLAGAN	xxxvii
Clinical assay of vitamin P. IV. A method for evaluating the potency of rose-hip preparations. By H. SCARBOROUGH and F. WOKES	xxxviii
Estimation of 'pregnanediol-like glucuronide' in human urine. By N. G. BISSET, B. W. L. BROOKSBANK and G. A. D. HASLEWOOD	xxxviii
A method of estimating peptic activity in gastric contents. By J. N. HUNT (introduced by G. A. D. HASLEWOOD)	xxxix
The oxidation of diiodotyrosine. I. 3:5-Diiodo-4-hydroxybenzaldehyde as a possible intermediate in thyroxine formation. By ROSALIND PITT RIVERS	xxxix
Absorption of 3-methyl glucose from the small intestine of the rat and cat. By P. N. CAMPBELL and H. DAVSON	xl
A precursor of the dimethyl sulphide evolved by Polysiphonia fastigiata . Dimethyl- β -propiothetine (dimethyl- β -carboxyethylsulphonium hydroxide) and its salts. By F. CHALLENGER and M. I. SIMPSON	xli
Digitonides of steroid ketones. By G. A. D. HASLEWOOD	xli
Estimation of 'pregnanediol-like glucuronide' in human urine. By N. G. BISSET, B. W. L. BROOKSBANK and G. A. D. HASLEWOOD	xlii
An inorganic grey solution. By L. C. THOMSON (introduced by G. A. D. HASLEWOOD)	xlii
A method of estimating peptic activity in gastric contents. By J. N. HUNT (introduced by G. A. D. HASLEWOOD)	xlii
The electrometric pH determination of sound and carious dentine. By P. PINCUS and J. JACKSON	xlii
(A) Some reactions of thetine. (B) Evolution of dimethyl sulphide from seaweed. By F. CHALLENGER and M. I. SIMPSON	xlii
Cobalt as a growth factor. By J. STEWART	xlii
Determination of glutamine in quantities of some millimicro gram-molecules, and a demonstration that inhibition of the synthesis of glutamine by streptococci is associated with inhibition of their growth. By H. McILWAIN, J. A. ROPER and D. E. HUGHES	xliii
Sources of energy for the bacteria of the bovine rumen. By M. L. McNAUGHT and J. A. B. SMITH	xliii
Influence of the extraction rate of flour on conditioned pyridoxine deficiency in rats. By M. B. RICHARDS (introduced by W. GODDEN)	xliii
Some factors affecting chemical detection of hydrogen peroxide formed by oxidative deamination of certain amino-acids by spermatozoa. By J. TOSIC	xliv
Conversion of β -carotene into vitamin A in the intestine of the rat. By J. GLOVER, T. W. GOODWIN and R. A. MORTON	xlv
Iodine metabolism in relation to dietary calcium. By B. W. SIMPSON (introduced by W. GODDEN)	xlv
Conditioned pyridoxine deficiency in rats. By M. B. RICHARDS (introduced by W. GODDEN)	xlvi
Bacterial decomposition of cellulose in the rumen. By F. BAKER and S. T. HARRISS (introduced by D. P. CUTBERTSON)	xlvi
